THE LITHUANIAN RENASCENCE

Dr. J. Basanavičius

The striking story of the Lithuanian Renaissance must ever be associated with the name of Dr. Basanavičius, who devoted his whole life to the Lithuanian cause.

He was born in 1851 at Bartnikai, Suvalkai government, the son of well-to-do parents. He studied at the Mariampol gymnasium or high school, where he graduated with the silver medal award. Thence he proceeded to the Moscow university, where he studied philosophy and medicine. In 1879 he secured his medical diploma, and subsequently practiced his profession off and on some twenty-five years in Bulgaria. After the Russian Revolution of 1905 he returned to Lithuania, where he still resides.

The value of his work for his country cannot be overestimated. While the embargo on Lithuanian printing lasted he devoted himself to study of Lithuanian origins, collected the ancient Dainos or popular songs, historical reminiscences, etc., and immersed himself deeply in the national soul. In 1883 he went to Lithuania Minor, where at Ragainė and later at Tilžė (Tilsit) he published "Aušra" (Dawn) which did much to promote the Renaissance movement. By bevious and manifold contraband routes this paper found its way into Lithuania-Major, where it met with a ready sale. The besotted Russian Government detected in this phenomenon a Bismarckian intrigue and tried to entrap the publisher. In 1885 Basanavičius was obliged to leave Germany, but he confined his work to his comrade Šliupas. Basanavičius returned to Bulgaria, where he resumed his task of compilation, till he had prepared six large volumes on the Lithuanian people, which appeared in Lithuania Minor and in America.

After the Russian Revolution of 1905 he renewed his activities in Lithuania Major. When the Diet of Vilnius assembled he was elected President in recognition of his tireless energy. He took advantage of the interval of calm succeeding 1905 to try to improve the moral and intellectual life of his countrymen. To this end he founded the Lithuanian Scientific Society, which published an organ called "Tauta" (Nation). He also opened a museum and library in Vilnius. In 1913 he visited the flourishing Lithuanian colony in the United States, which contributed large sums to help the realization of his special objects, including the establishment of a theatre and a national museum.

Basanavičius has continued to live in Vilnius ever since, through all the upheaval of the Great War and subsequent unrest, never losing an opportunity of advancing the national cause. He attended the opening of the Lithuanian Constituent Assembly or Seimas at Kaunas on May 15, 1920, when he accorded a wonderful reception. Even Polish persecution of everything Lithuanian has hesitated to touch this noble veteran, and he lives among the books of his beloved Lithuanian library, occupying his leisure with his favorite studies.

THE SECRET OF POPULARITY

The advice big sister gives little sister is "Grin and bare it" — that is, of course, if she has a nicely dimpled knee.

Girls who have learned to dance well, paint well and look sweet cannot see any earthly use for bothering about learning to think.

WELL, the bandwagon is being overhauled. President Coolidge gave audience to a rolled bearing magnate the other day.

Which are worse, asks John Zdanis, short-comings or long-stayings?

He took her skating on the lake. She vowed she'd go no more. I asked her why, her answer came, "He only hugged the shore."

YOU are not being arrested for—

Killing Time, Hanging Pictures, Running over a new song, Smothering a laugh, or Murdering the English language.

Her Gentle Hint

Rejected Suitor—"Do you object to my presence at your wedding?"

The Girl—"It all depends on how you spell the word."

THERE ARE too 'dawgone many men who think that their praying to God on Sunday forgives them for preying upon their fellow men the rest of the week.

From now on we can observe some family trees begin to bear nuts about the fourth generation.

Daugelis pirmųjų išpuzdžių dažnai esti sugadinama ko-kiu nors mažu iš pažiūros daiktu.

TAI yra piuku jeigu gali taip padaryti, jog kitiems patiktum. O vienok, dažnai koks mažas daiktas gali neleisti jums eiti pirm.

Pavyzdžiui, jeigu žmogaus dantis yra nesvarus, tai jus no-roms ar nenoroms turėsite ta-kaipo užmetina tam žmogui. O tuo tarpu galbūt toks pat už-metimas yra daromas ir jums.

Listerine, dantu tepalas, valo dantis nauju būdu. Musu che-mikai pagaliai surado sustata kurs išliko žveičia nedrasky-damas dantu emalės — tas sun-kus uždavinys pagaliai susi-ristas.

Didelė tuba Listerine dantu tepalo kainuoja tik 25 centai; gausite per savo aptiekorių. Lambert Pharmacal Co., Saint Louis, U. S. A.
